

Carole Smith, Flute

Carole has enjoyed playing the flute for more than 35 years. She earned a degree in Music Education from Longwood College in Virginia, where she graduated with honors in 1987. Carole has taught privately and performed extensively throughout the Richmond, Northern Virginia, and D.C. areas, and was a charter member of Northern Virginia's Bel Canto Flute Choir.

Carole moved to Florence, Alabama in 2005 and has very much enjoyed becoming involved with the Shoals music community. She plays with the Woodmont Orchestra, Shoals Flute Ensemble, and has participated with the Shoals Concert Band, Shoals Symphony and community musical theater.

Carole benefited greatly from years of private instruction and is eager to share her knowledge and experience with her students. Lessons will address valuable skills such as technical proficiency, tone development, breath control, proper carriage, scale exercises, embouchure development, intonation, articulation and expressive musical interpretation.

Carole has had great success helping her students exceed their goals and is very enthusiastic about sharing the joy and beauty of flute playing!
